

FIG. 40.—German short rifle, model 1898. This rifle had the bolt turned down. The muzzle cover is shown in place. The sling passed through a loop on the left of the lower band and was fastened on the right side of the buttstock after passing through a recess just back of the grip.