

FIG. 41.—English short Lee-Enfield rifle, model 1903. The hump over the receiver is a clip guide. The heavy ears at the sides of the front sight were cumbersome but very useful as sight protectors.