

FIG. 192.—Methods of reducing the number of stitches used in repair after a resection. At the bottom is a simple ligature; in the middle, a suture on one surface is combined with a ligature on the opposite side; at the top, a double ligature is being made to serve as a suture