

FIG. 3.—Case 2. Large bronchus. The epithelium is in part lost, in part altered, the superficial cells being non-ciliated, and showing hyaline degeneration. There is marked congestion of the capillaries of the submucosa