

FIG. 117.—Border of lesion two hours after application of mustard gas. To the right of the middle, the epidermis is still living; to the left nearly completely necrosed, necrosis extending into the upper portion of the corium. Early edema