

FIG. 134.—Section of corium from skin of same patient as Figure 130, showing dilated lymphatics filled with fibrin thrombi, in the lower portion of the corium. Some of these lymphatics contain partially hemolyzed red blood cells in small numbers