

FIG. 168.—Palpebral conjunctiva 34 hours after application of standard droplet of dichlorethylsulphide. Section at fornix of upper lid showing the complete loss of the necrotic surface, extreme edema, and polynuclear infiltration