

FIG. 66.—Lung of dog dying two days after exposure to phosgene. Fibrin stains show a heavy deposit along the alveolar walls, outlining them everywhere quite distinctly