

FIG. 221.—Cross section through the middle of a cable-auto-nerve transplant, Experiment No. 74, 11 days after operation; pyridine-silver preparation. Note the new epineurial sheath, seemingly uniting the four separate nerve segments into one compact nerve with many funiculi. The funicular structure of each nerve segment is well maintained.