

FIG. 9.—Thomas traction arm splint applied with rods in vertical place and arm slung from upper rod as is sometimes necessary because of position and magnitude of wound. Traction should be applied by attaching straps to end of splint. Light additional traction may be attached directly to the splint.